ABOUT ME

Marketing Brain, Creator Heart

I'm a working mom and first-generation homeschooler creating content at the intersection of faith, motherhood, and intentional living. I bring a warm, authentic voice that resonates with moms who care deeply about their families' well-being.

What sets me apart: I don't just create content — I study it. With a marketing degree (graduated cum laude) and hands-on experience analyzing 160+ social media profiles quarterly, I understand what makes content perform, not just look pretty.
